Jeffrey A. Miller joined Hoguet Newman Regal & Kenney, LLP in 2012. His practice experience includes complex commercial litigation, labor and employment disputes, insurance coverage claims, and class actions. He has represented clients in both federal and state courts and participated in all aspects of litigation, from managing e-discovery and taking depositions to drafting and arguing motions.

Recent representations include:

Arguing for and obtaining dismissal of suits against a NASDAQ-100 software company;
Securing insurance coverage for a commercial client following destruction of its business facility; and Negotiating settlement on behalf of a multinational technology corporation.

Mr. Miller was previously a litigation associate at Dewey & LeBoeuf LLP, where he was involved in the representation of a major international financial institution in the Eastern District of New York, with a focus on expert discovery and pre-trial motion practice. Mr. Miller also participated in the representation of retired professionals in cases regarding workers' compensation and arbitration rights.

In addition, Mr. Miller has represented children with special needs in administrative hearings and actions against the New York City Department of Education. While on fellowship at Advocates for Children of New York, Mr. Miller won favorable decisions and negotiated settlements to secure educational services and classroom placements for students throughout the New York metropolitan area.

Mr. Miller is admitted to practice in the State of New York and in the United States District Courts for the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York.
